

PRESIDENT TALKS OF AMERICANISM

Makes Plea for Preparedness
Address to West Point
Graduates.

(By the Sun News Service.)
West Point, N. Y., June 13.—One hundred and twenty-four superb young men, in the last time in the gray coat and black trousers of a cadet's uniform, stepped forward in turn to the battle monument this morning and received from the hands of the President of the United States their diplomas of graduation from the Military Academy.

They had just listened to a speech from him in which he touched, even though lightly, upon the subjects which were uppermost in their minds, America and Americanism; preparedness, its dangers and the need of it—these were his themes.

"It is the present imperative duty of America to be prepared," he said, "so that mankind will know that when America speaks she means what she says."

And again:
"All of its (America's) force is going to be behind its moral idea."

Refers to Moral of Times.
He referred to the dangers of the times, and the responsibility therein of the men before him, and with his arm stretched out toward the martial statue of Washington astride his horse, behind them, he defined, perhaps vaguely, the spirit of America as he feels it.

"We are not for anything selfish. Americanism consists in utterly believing in the principles of America, and putting them first as above anything that might by chance come into competition with it."

"And I, for my part, believe that the American test is a spiritual test."

These were some of his phrases:
He denounced the spirit of militarism, but said there was little danger of it becoming uppermost in this country, and he urged his hearers always to be American citizens first, and army officers second.

Hyphenates Denounced.
The hyphenates were denounced, and the Monroe doctrine explained, but except insofar as the speech reflected President Wilson's mind, there was nothing in it which had a direct application to the political situation.

There was one part of his speech to which might be attached a significance with which President Wilson did not clothe it. He said:

"Never since I was a youngster have I ever been afraid of the noisy man. I have always been afraid of the still man. I have always been afraid of the quiet man."

After the diplomas had been presented the President and Mrs. Wilson were taken on a tour of inspection of the academy and the grounds. Luncheon was served in the superintendent's quarters, and the Presidential party left here at 2:15 o'clock on board a special train which went to West Point over the West Shore and then to Washington over the Pennsylvania.

TO ASK BETTER LIGHTS ON FOURTEENTH STREET

Uptown Business Men Meet and Indorse Preparedness Parade.

Lighting conditions on Fourteenth street above Rhode Island avenue were criticised last night at the second meeting of the new Fourteenth Street Business Men's Association in the United States Savings Bank Building.

"After the lights are out in the store windows, you can hardly see your way home," said President Thomas E. Petty. The Commissioners will be asked to remedy this condition.

The preparedness parade was unanimously indorsed by the association. Twenty-nine new members were admitted as the result of a campaign: R. R. Sari, Louis Brockway, Le Roy Livingston, Mc R. Hathaway, T. Lamar Jackson, P. McKewen, B. A. Herriman, James T. Ryan, William Dudley, George E. Miller, John J. Fister, B. L. Rich, J. Bokorad, Jeremiah E. Connor, V. V. Jocelyn, Harry H. Sherwood, Ford E. Young, C. Otis Fountain, Edward J. Post, Dr. W. H. Winter, H. M. Crandall, Henry W. Stewart, William H. Frey, P. H. Smyth, Martin T. Dryden, John J. Baker-Smith, George E. Barry, E. M. Will-hite.

Funerals

Funeral services for Prof. R. C. Goss, who died on Sunday at his home, 1241 Four-and-a-half street southwest, in his fifty-first year, will be held at the First Baptist Church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Price, who died on Monday, will be held at Nineteenth Street Baptist Church at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

After four years of work it is believed that St. Paul's Cathedral in London has been made practically safe from fire.

INTESTINAL INDIGESTION

Can be Permanently Relieved
Only by Making the Liver Active.

Intestinal indigestion is shown by flatulence, constipation and sometimes attacks of diarrhoea which have no apparent cause. You may not have known it but the intestines must digest food as well as the stomach. So while your stomach digestion may be all right, you may easily have intestinal indigestion or dyspepsia—a trouble that is often harder to overcome than stomach trouble.

The digestive fluid in the bowels is the bile—bile is furnished only by the liver and it is lack of enough of this fluid that causes the indigestion.

Then the only way to relieve intestinal indigestion and the symptoms noted above is to put the liver in good shape. That's why oil and laxatives that only act on the bowels are no good whatever in this kind of trouble. The sure way to get relief is to take Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets). After night for a few nights, Nature's Remedy acts on the liver and promotes the flow of bile into the intestines, it corrects and tones up the stomach, relieves rheumatism and constipation, benefits the kidneys and purifies the blood. Contains no calomel or habit-forming drugs. Get a 25c box and take an NR Tablet tonight—you'll feel better in the morning.—Ady.

ANAPOLIS COMMITTEE TO MARCH IN PARADE
The mayor and city council of Annapolis, Md., accompanied by members of the national defense committee, will march in the parade today, and will display a huge banner with the caption, "Preparedness—the National Defense Highway, From Capitol to Capitol."

The plan is to appeal to Congress for $125,000 to complete the construction of a highway from Annapolis to Washington, for which an appropriation of $125,000 has been given by the State of Maryland.

The length of the road is twenty-five miles, five of which have been improved. Marching with the Annapolis officials will be C. C. Magruder, chairman of the national defense committee; Col. Randall, H. B. Matchett and Thomas P. Littlepage.

BURY HERALD IN BOX;
WILL UNCOVER IN 2015
Special to The Washington Herald.
Philadelphia, June 13.—Under an elm tree, which Louis H. Eisenlohr, of Philadelphia, planted at the Cushing Academy in Ashburnham, in September, 1915, is a copper box. This copper box is a veritable museum, a miniature curiosity shop. In it are newspapers from the leading cities of the country, including The Washington Herald. Countless other relics also are contained in this strange treasure box.

The box is to remain in the ground untouched for exactly one century, at the special request of Mr. Eisenlohr. Then in the year 2015 the box is to be dug up and opened and the relics displayed at a huge celebration. The copy of The Washington Herald, dated a century before, will be sent to The Herald office, with the request that an editorial be published concerning the celebration.

How America's largest cigarette manufacturer accomplished "the Impossible" by producing a MILD cigarette that SATISFIES. It is the CHESTERFIELD Cigarette : : : : :

ALMOST anybody can make a cup of coffee. But there are said to be not over a half-dozen restaurants in the United States where they know how to make it right.

Similarly, almost anyone can make a cigarette. Just roll up some tobacco in a piece of pure paper—and there you are.

There are, perhaps, over 800 brands of cigarettes sold in this country today. But not one of them does what Chesterfields do—for Chesterfields are MILD; and yet they SATISFY.

Some cigarettes may be mild, but they don't satisfy. Only one cigarette does BOTH—Chesterfield!

This truly unique cigarette has all of that refreshing taste-delicacy (or mildness) which any good cigarette must have. Yet, without sacrificing any of this delightful mildness, Chesterfields go one step further—they do more than merely "please your taste"—they let you know you've been smoking. They satisfy!

And yet they're mild!

A Step Forward in Cigarette-Making

WE are proud to be the firm that brought about this important development in cigarette enjoyment—for that is exactly what the Chesterfield blend is.

This cigarette is an outgrowth of long earnest effort on the part of this, the largest cigarette manufacturing concern in the United States.

The mild, yet satisfying Chesterfield blend is not the result of happy chance. It is one of the results of our many years of cigarette experience—of the heavy volume of our purchases of cigarette tobacco—of the prestige and advantage these enormous purchases give us in securing the choicest leaf from the tobacco fields of the world.

Chesterfields are an achievement.

A New Thing
for a Cigarette to Do

CHESTERFIELDS do the one thing you have always wished a cigarette would do—they satisfy!

Smoke them and we believe you will find that ordinary cigarettes seem by comparison almost flat.

Give Chesterfields a trial. We believe you will be glad to learn what they can teach you about cigarette enjoyment.

You have been reading here some rather unusual, almost daring, statements about a cigarette. If Chesterfields were an untried cigarette—if we had not been observing their behavior in other cities—if we did not KNOW that they make good with smokers, we could not afford to make these statements to you over our signature.

But these statements, strong as they are, can mean little or nothing to you until you have actually smoked your first Chesterfield.

You will find that your own dealer has Chesterfields waiting for you.
